

WILLOWS ACADEMY

Position: Science Teacher
Reports to: Assistant Head of School
Member of: STEM Faculty

Start Date: August 10, 2023

Duties:

Teach Science at the high school and/or middle school level, requiring background and expertise in physics and physical science with knowledge of advanced mathematics. This full time position will require the development and supervision of hands-on science labs and other scientific inquiry lessons. In addition to instructional responsibilities, the teacher will also participate in the school mentoring program, co curricular activities and continue to work on professional growth.

Science Department Philosophy:

Through scientific inquiry, with an emphasis on hands-on laboratory activities, all students learn to discover the beauty and truth imbued in the natural world. Students are motivated to use their scientific literacy for the common good as responsible citizens. Every Willows student takes a science course each year, since science is an important part of a rigorous liberal arts education. The curriculum includes biology, chemistry and physics at both middle school and high school levels. Fitted to their developmental stages, students practice both collaborative and independent focused work, equipping them for deep scientific endeavors and careers in any STEM field of their choosing.
